INTRODUCTORY NOTE.

The desire to prepare and publish a genealogy of the Thorne Family has existed in my mind for these many years. The great labor and amount of time essential for such an undertaking has until quite recently made it practically impossible.

By the assistance of the distinguished genealogist, Edmund Dana Barbour, Esq., of Boston, I have been enabled by incorporating his compilation, as the foundation of the work, to present this publication to the descendants of John Thorne, who lived in Old England seven hundred years ago. The Thorne Family has been in this country more than two hundred and fifty years, and accurate and full records exist, through these centuries, for establishing the family line complete down to the present. This book contains brief accounts of about five hundred direct descendants of John and James Thorne of Salisbury, Massachusetts, and Kingston, New Hampshire.

To all friends and relatives many thanks are due, and especially to Mrs. Ailee Gibson Givin, of Dallas, Texas, daughter of Harriet Thorne Gibson, whose interest has helped to make this publication possible.

THORN, OR THORNE, GENEALOGY.

FROM THE YEAR 1200 TO 1900.

JOHN THORNE, who lived in England during the reign of Richard I (The Lion-Hearted King, 1189-1199), and whose son, Sir William Thorne, was knighted in the reign of King John, 1199-1216, and the seat of the family was in Pembrokeshire, the most easterly county of Wales, in the town Lianstadwell.

JOHN THORNE, the first one to arrive in this country from England, of whom we have record, came to Salem and Lynn about the year 1635-1636. In 1646 we find his verbal will was witnessed by Mrs. John Jackson, and one of the appraisers of the estate was John Herbert. (Recorded Hist. Coll. Essex Inst. 4.)

He also served in King Philip's war in 1675, was a member of Captain Daniel Henchman's company. Enrolled August 21, 1675, Rehoboth, Mass.

ISRAEL THORNE, a brother of John, was in the company of Captain Samuel Appleton, in the same war. (N. E. Hist. and Gen. Reg., Vol. 14. Vol. 37. Also N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Record, Vol. XIX. Also Vol. XX, pp. 77-88. Also Vol. XXII, pp. 174-182. By Rev. A. W. H. Eaton.)

1. JAMES THORNE<sup>1</sup>. Had a brother John. Without doubt, from location and historical connection, a descendant of John of 1636. John, as first name, has come down through all the generations to the present. The date and place of his birth unknown, but of English descent. He married, Jan. 12, 1702-3, Hannah Brown, b. Feb. 5, 1683, dau. of Philip Brown and Mary Buswell, and granddaughter of Deacon Henry Brown and Abigail ——, of Salisbury, Mass. He lived in Salisbury, Mass., and Kingston, N. H. She d. Mar. 16, 1740-1.

- i. SAMUEL THORNE, b. Oct. 2, 1703; bapt. Aug. 19, 1705; admitted to First Church, Salisbury, in 1728; probably m. (1) Mar. 29, 1731, Abigail Cram; (2) Nov. 11, 1736, Abigail Sanborn; and had Bernard, bapt. June, 1740, who m. Dec. 14, 1769, Aphia Norton.

- ii. ABIGAIL THORNE, b. Sept. 3, 1707; bapt. Nov. 2, 1707; admitted to First Church, Salisbury, Jan. 7, 1728; probably m. July 14, 1731, William Russell.
- 2. iii. JOHN THORNE, b. July 13, 1710; bapt. Sept. 3, 1710; m. (1) Elizabeth ———; (2) Oct. 20, 1742, Elizabeth Brown. May 23, 1753, John bought 25 acres, in Kingston, for £330.
- iv. JAMES THORNE, b. Jan. 6, 1715-6; probably m. Feb. 13, 1745, Mercy Morse; bought land in Kingston, N. H., Jan. 23, 1741, and Dec. 12, 1742, and Dec. 2, 1756. He was a soldier at the capture of Louisburg, Cape Breton, in 1745. A member of the First Mass. Regt. under Captain William Warner. (This was the greatest historical event of the Colonial period. June 17, the day of its surrender, is observed by the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Hampshire, also by some other states, as the date of their Annual Court.) He was executor of his father's will. The will of James Thorne, dated June 22, 1790, was proved June 13, 1796.
- i. EZEKIEL THORNE, b. in East Kingston, N. H., Sept. 27, 1761.

James, senior, also had the following children:

- v. SARAH THORNE, b. in Salisbury; admitted to First Church, Salisbury, Jan. 4, 1730.
- vi. BETTY THORNE.
- vii. NATHAN THORNE.
- viii. HANNAH THORNE, m. Reuben Clement.

- iii. JACOB THORNE, b. Oct. 27, 1747 (by second wife); named as executor in his father's will.
- iv. ELIZABETH THORNE, b. May 26, 1751 (by second wife); mentioned in her father's will.
- v. ABRAM THORNE, b. May 20, 1754; d. Sept. 20, 1754.
- vi. ABRAHAM THORNE, b. Jan. 31, 1757; not mentioned in his father's will; probably died before 1771.

3. JOHN THORNE<sup>3</sup> (John<sup>2</sup>) (James<sup>1</sup>), b. in Kingston, N. H., May 18, 1736; m. ———. In 1762 enrolled Sept. ye 30th. (See N. H. Rev. Rolls. Vol. 1, pp. 24-5. Also N. H. State Papers, Vol. 14), he joined the expedition to Crown Point in Capt. Marston's Company, of Exeter, N. H., under Col. John Goff, and was made quartermaster. For this service as a soldier and officer in the Colonial period, his descendants are entitled to membership in the Society of Colonial Wars, or in that of the Colonial Dames. Earlier ancestors, undoubtedly correct but not accurately traced by exact dates, would also entitle to membership as above, John Thorne who served in King Philip's War in 1675, and James Thorne, a soldier at Louisburg in 1745. (See beginning of this record.) He went from Kingston, N. H., about 1765 to Tin Corner, N. H., afterwards known as Thorne with the family. In 1830-31, he attended school at Hopkinton Academy under Mr. Colby as teacher, and Franklin Academy under the celebrated instructor, Benjamin Tyler. The young man taught school in Bow, Millville, Concord and Salisbury in 1832-34. Certificates of his qualifications as a teacher, both moral and mental, were certified to by the superintending committee of those days, Rev. Nathaniel Bouton, Rev. Ebenezer E. Cummings and Rev. Asa T. Tenney (originals of which still exist). In 1834, he began the manufacture of shoes and in 1835 opened a store for the sale of custom boots and shoes. In 1864, his son, John Calvin, was admitted in partnership and the business much enlarged. After the decease of the father in 1884 the son continued as sole owner until 1911 when it was incorporated as The Thorne Shoe Store Co., he being chosen as its President. This store, established in 1835 by the father and carried on by the son until the present, is one of the oldest stores in a similar continuous mercantile career in the whole country. Calvin Thorne was admitted to membership in the First Congregational Church of Concord in 1833 and retained his connection for upwards of fifty years until his death in 1884.

E. D. BARBOUR'S NOTES ON THE THORNE FAMILY.

From Barbour's Genealogy.

For speculations about early Thornes, see "Record of Ancestry of Edward Tompkins" (p. 22), in New England Historical-Genealogical Library, Boston.

SAMUEL THORN, married in First Church, Boston, Dec. 17, 1691, Abigail Barbour, b. in Medfield, Oct. 20, 1659, dau. of George Barbour, of Medfield. She had Samuel, b. Oct. 25, 1692; William, b. Dec. 23, 1694; Abigail, b. June 11, 1696; John, b. Feb. 10, 1697; James, bapt. Dec. 31, 1699. Compare the names of these children with the names in the same order of the children of James and Hannah of Kingston, N. H.

There were early Thornes in Ipswich, Hamilton, Boston, Hingham, Lynn, Salem and Scituate.

Rev. Arthur Wentworth Hamilton Eaton, of 38 East 10th Street, New York City, is compiling a genealogy of Thornes. See his notes attached hereto.

ISRAEL THORNE—served in King Philip's Wars in 1675.

WILLIAM THORNE—at New London, Conn., in 1676.

ROBERT THORNE—cominander of a vessel in 1678.

JAMES THORNE—soldier at Louisburg in 1745. (In 1st Mass. Regt.; Capt., William Warner.)

JONAS THORNE—soldier at Louisburg in 1745.

BARTHOLOMEW THORNE—taken prisoner at Gorhamtown in 1754; son of Joseph.

There was a PETER THORNE, aged 20, who sailed from London in the ship Elizabeth (Stagg, Master), 10 April, 1635, the ancestor undoubtedly of the loyalist, Peter Thorne, who, Sabine says, removed from Fairfield Co., Conn., to Nova Scotia at the close of the War of the Revolution, and died at Wilmot, N. S., in 1844, aged 87.

The names of the above are found in various places through the fifty volumes of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register; John, who served in King Philip's Wars in 1675, was in the company of Capt. Daniel Henchman; Israel, in the company of Capt. Samuel Appleton, New England Historical and Genealogical Register, about Vol. 14, 1860.

William, at New London, came from County Dorset, England, and married at New London in 1676, Lydia, daughter of James Redfield, widow of Thomas Bailey. Savage, Vol. 4.

Joseph (probably son of John), received a marriage license for himself and Joanna Pierson at Scituate, 16 May, 1695.

Sarah (probably his sister) was married at Ipswich, 18 March, 1694-5, to Richard Fitts, and died there in 1773, aged 100 years, a woman of great piety and energy of character. Great-grandmother of Daniel Webster.

Joanna was married in Salisbury, 17 Dec., 1669, to John Stevens.

Elizabeth was married at Hamilton (Ipswich), 8 April, 1722, to Nicholas Woodbury. She was dau. of John Thorn, of Hamilton. *2938. Woodbury. Jemima<sup>5</sup> Woodbury, baptized in Third Parish of Ipswich, Oct. 27, 1723, was descended: Nicholas<sup>4</sup> and Elizabeth Thorne, Isaac<sup>3</sup> and Elizabeth Herrick, Nicholas<sup>2</sup> and Anne Palsgrave, William<sup>1</sup> and Elizabeth Patch. Nicholas Woodbury of the Hamlet was prisoner in Canada, 1712-20 (see Felt's "History of Ipswich"), and married Elizabeth, daughter of Deacon John Thorn of Hamilton, Nov. 28, 1722. H. M.

Martha was married in Ipswich, 1 May, 1703, to Zachariah Eastman, and died, 6 June, 1718.

Bartholomew, whose intention of marriage to Lydia Couch, of Falmouth, Me., bears date, 7 January, 1762 (recorded at Falmouth), was of Pearsontown, Me.

Martha, whose intention of marriage with George Freeman bears date, 26 Jan., and who was married, 14 Feb., 1760, was of Falmouth, Me.

Samuel, who married, 11 Nov., 1736, Abigail Sanborn, of Salisbury, Mass. (she was born, 23 Oct., 1704), was of Salisbury.

There was a Mr. Thorne in Boston, who lost two children in 1723. They were buried, 12 June, and 22 Sept.

Isaac was in an expedition against Havana in 1762. (New England Historical and Genealogical Register, Vol. 14, 1860.)

Savage speaks also of a Thomas or William, at Roxbury, about 1646.

There has always been a family of Thornes in the South; Rev. Sydenham Thorne, Rector of Christ Church, Dover, Del. (living, 21 Jan., 1788), a representative.

Other early emigrants from England, according to Hotten, were:

Arthur, aged 33, left Gravesend for the Bermudas, 3 Sept., 1635.

Thomas, aged 13, embarked in the Safety (Grant, Master), for Virginia, 10 Aug., 1635.

There was likewise a Joseph Thorne, an early inhabitant of Barbadoes.

ADDITIONAL BY JOHN CALVIN THORNE.

A John Campbell Thorne, Fairfield, Iowa, 1905; dry goods merchant. His grandfather, Robert Thorne, b. and d. in Butler Co., Pa., near Pittsburg; d. 1865. Had a first cousin die at his grandfather's home in Pennsylvania, by the name in full of John Calvin Thorne, which was a very singular circumstance. The publisher of this volume bears exactly the same name and lives in Concord, N. H.

The family must have been connected perhaps by descent from "Thomas Thorne (age 13), who embarked in the ship 'Safety' in England, for Virginia, in Aug., 1635," and may have been a brother of John, who went to New England, or of "Henry Thorne, who, in Feb., 1623, was living in the household of Ensign Isack Chaplain, Chaplain's Choise, Charles Cittie." Henry arrived in Virginia, in the "James" in 1622.

W. F. Thorne, and brother, E. C. Thorne, Oklahoma City, Okla., mortgagees. Their father born in England and his name was John Thorne, and grandmother's, Mary Thorne.

CHARLES R. THORNE, SR., who was a popular actor in Boston fifty years ago, died in San Francisco, Wednesday. Mr. Thorne was born in New York in 1814, and made his debut in that city in 1830, and for more than 50 years remained on the stage, playing in all parts of the world and in all kinds of parts. As a young man he was a great success, and the dramatic records are full of his triumphs throughout the world.

Fifty years ago in this city, Mr. Charles R. Thorne, Sr., was a popular leading actor at the National Theatre, then under the management of Mr. William Pelby. He afterward played in other Boston houses, and was the manager of the Federal Street Theatre in its latter days, and also of the Howard Atheneum. He had large experience as a manager in a number of theatres in various parts of the country, and was in California for several years.

He visited England with his wife in 1837 and played a provincial engagement. He was manager of the Chatham Theatre, New York, on its opening.

He married in early life Maria A. Mestayer, who died in 1881.

There were five children by this marriage—Thomas, who died in China, whither he had accompanied his father on a dramatic tour; Charles, Jr., who made his first appearance at the Boston Museum, Aug. 18, 1859, in the part of Count Montalban in "The Honeymoon" (the late Lawrence Barrett being the Duke Aranza), afterward becoming a member of the Museum Company for the season of 1859-60. He rapidly rose in his profession, played many important engagements in this city and elsewhere, became a star, and died Feb. 16, 1883, while playing an engagement at Booth's Theatre, New York, then under the management of John Stetson.

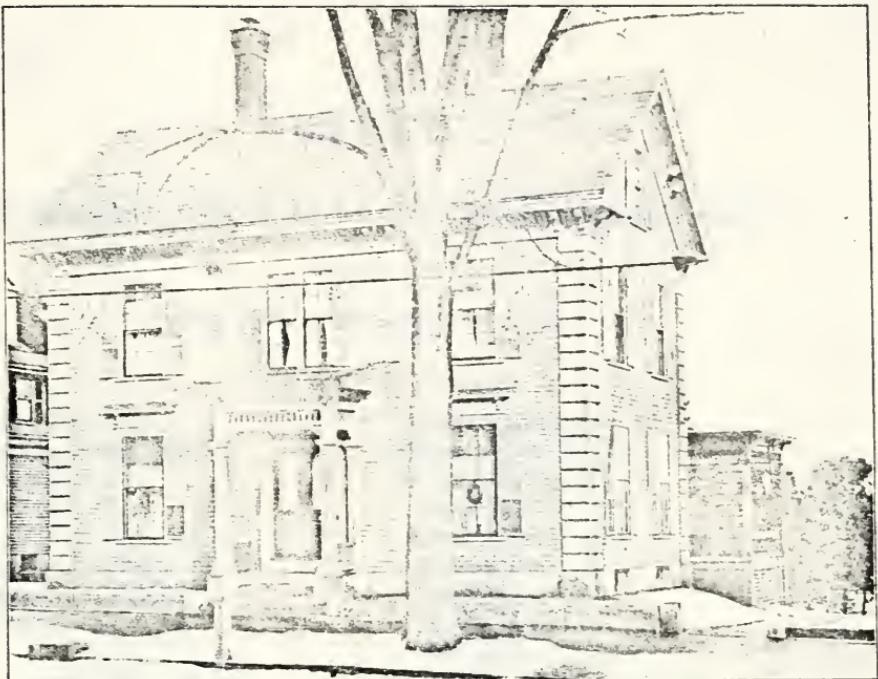

Another son was William H., of New York, the fourth being named after the tragedian, Edwin Forrest, who gained some reputation as a successful manager. The daughter, Emily, was married to George Jordan, and afterward to a Mr. Chamberlain.

Mr. Thorne went to California in 1850, and, with the exception of a few trips away, remained there during the remainder of his life.

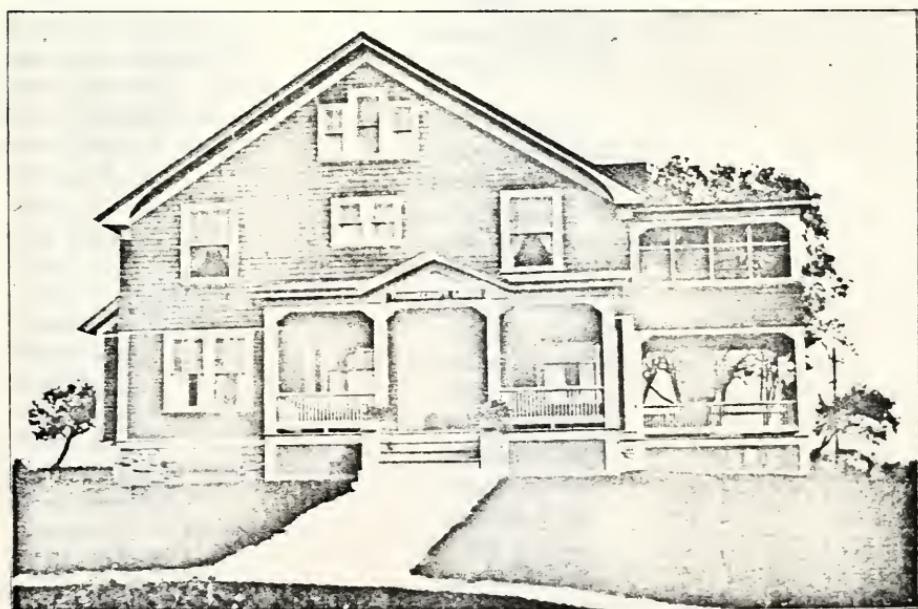

In September, 1883, Mr. Thorne married the widow of James Stark, an old-time actor, who was well known in Boston years and years ago, this city being his native place. (Boston paper, 1893.)

COL. GEORGE W. THORNE, the only veteran of the Civil War on the Republican ticket in Marinette county, went into the army when a mere lad, in response to President Lincoln's call for 75,000 men for three months' service. He rose rapidly in the esteem of the commanding officers of the Eleventh Pennsylvania and in the summer of 1862 he was promoted to brigade quartermaster and the next fall to division commissioner. This position he held until Feb., 1863, when he received a lifelong injury. With a crushed ankle he was sent to the officer's hospital at Georgetown, D. C., where he remained until June, 1863, when he was honorably discharged from service on account of permanent disability. His injury ever since then has given him trouble and the ankle has been stiff. Mr. Thorne's war record was a gallant one. He was thirty hours in the saddle without rest or food in Gen. John Pope's famous campaign. Col. Thorne was once a well-known member of the New York bar and also of the legislature of that state.—Weekly Sentinel, Milwaukee, Wis.
